The Audit Trail of Platform Collusion and Target Campaigns Community

Bitu79 1 August 18, 2026, 10:23am

The hypocrisy is absolute. While these individuals attempt to accuse me of bias, the public record shows they are the ones running a coordinated defamation campaign across multiple platforms. The primary agitator, Mehdi zardi, spent yesterday sabotaging my thread on Level1Techs, trying to ruin my reputation. Now, this exact same user has infiltrated this official Google AI Developers Forum to continue stirring up trouble and coordinating with local detractors like Faheem Anis1 (who has opened multiple targeted meta-threads here specifically to demand my ban). This is a synchronized, organized attempt to silence a developer who brought up valid backend data privacy and JSON handling concerns. The permanent archives and cross-platform audit trails do not lie.

Official Request for Immediate Moderation Action and Permanent Ban

Based on the permanent audit trails provided above, I am officially requesting the Google AI Forum administration to issue an immediate and permanent ban against Faheem_Anis1 and Mehdi_zardi for the following severe violations of the Google Terms of Service and Forum Guidelines:

Google AI Studio 'Delete' Fraud: Level1Techs Community Fails to Disprove the GDPR Backend Retention Proof

Gemini API generation:ai

Bitu79 19 August 17, 2026, 8:57pm

Update on Level1Techs Censorship & GDPR Violation:

After bringing unassailable technical proof regarding Google AI Studio's backend data retention to Level1Techs, the forum administration ultimately banned my account and silenced my presence.

Following the ban, I formally exercised my Right to Erasure under GDPR Article 17, demanding the complete deletion of my account and all associated posts. Instead of honoring this legal request, the site owner chose a fraudulent path: they kept my posts public while merely changing my username to an anonymous handle. They refused to delete my intellectual property because my technical findings drive traffic and SEO value to their website.

This is pure hypocrisy and content theft. They want to silence the author, but they want to keep the views for themselves.

Here is the complete, permanently archived documentation of the original threads, the unlisted topics, and the evidence of this ongoing GDPR violation:

Google AI Developers Forum Let's summarize the absolute rot at the core of Google's AI ecosystem right now (HAI-DEF) HAI-DEF ai Bitu791 August 15, 2026, 5:50am 1. Google's Official Policy: Explicitly forbids clinical use and states that MedGemma/MedASR is not an approved medical device. 2. Google's Engineers: Publicly congratulate developers, validate 'real clinical workflows,' and invite uncertified medical apps into the official Showcase. 3. The Developer Community's Reaction: As one forum user bluntly put it: 'People don't really care, they want to vibe code their app, get paid, and move on with their lives.' So, let's connect the dots: Google's own policy says 'do not risk patient safety'. Google's engineers say 'congratulations on using it in a live clinic!'. And the developers openly admit 'we don't give a damn about consequences, we just want our money'. This is a complete regulatory collapse. You are enabling and encouraging uncertified, non-compliant medical AI tools to be rushed into real clinics, while everyone involved washes their hands of any patient safety liability. It's sickening, it's hypocritical, and it is a massive disaster waiting to happen. The paper trail is locked, the archives are permanent, and the whole world can see what you are doing. https://discuss.ai.google.dev/t/medasr-outstanding-feedback-from-clinicians/169529	https://discuss.ai.google.dev/t/let-s-summarize-the-absolute-rot-at-the-core-of-google-s-ai-ecosystem-right-now-hai-def/178361/print	Mon, 17 Aug 2026 04:19:30 GMT	Archived webpage

The screenshot shows a forum post from the Google AI Developers Forum. The title is "Let's summarize the absolute rot at the core of Google's AI ecosystem right now (HAI-DEF)". The author is Bitw79, and it was posted on August 15, 2026, at 5:50am. The post lists three points: 1. Google's Official Policy: Explicitly forbids clinical use and states that MedGemma/MedASR is not an approved medical device. 2. Google's Engineers: Publicly congratulate developers, validate 'real clinical workflows,' and invite uncertified medical apps into the official Showcase. 3. The Developer Community's Reaction: As one forum user bluntly put it: 'People don't really care, they want to vibe code their app, get paid, and move on with their lives.' The post continues with a critique of Google's policy, stating it's a complete regulatory collapse and that Google's engineers are enabling and encouraging uncertified, non-compliant medical AI tools to be rushed into real clinics.	https://discuss.ai.google.dev/t/let-s-summarize-the-absolute-rot-at-the-core-of-google-s-ai-ecosystem-right-now-hai-def/178361/print	Sun, 16 Aug 2026 15:10:15 GMT	Archived webpage
The screenshot shows a forum post from the Google AI Developers Forum. The title is "Bro needs to calm down a bit". The author is Faheem_Anis1, and it was posted on August 5, 2026, at 8:18am. The post includes a screenshot of a tweet that says "Google Drive Trash is just a visual illusion - How Google AI Studio's backend got caught red-handed!". Below the tweet, there is a comment that says "Like imagine responding with 48 posts, in response to a single sentence, all insulting me". At the bottom, it says "Anyway, I expect another 50 posts below the current one".	https://discuss.ai.google.dev/t/bro-needs-to-calm-down-a-bit/177226/print	Sun, 16 Aug 2026 07:23:26 GMT	Archived webpage
